APPROACH – BASIS OF AMALGAMATION

Arriving at the exchange ratio of equity Shares for the merger of Avenues with Infibeam would require determining the value of shares of Avenues (on fully diluted basis) in terms of the value of the equity shares of Infibeam. These values are to be determined on a relative basis.

There are several commonly used and accepted methods for determining the value of the shares of the company, which has been considered in present case, to the extent relevant and applicable, including:

1. Market Approach
  - a. Comparable Companies 'Multiples method /Guideline Company Method
  - b. Historical and Current Market Price Method
2. Income Approach
  - a. Discounted Cash Flow Method
3. Cost Approach
  - a. Net Asset Value Method (NAV)

It should be understood that the valuation of any company or its assets is inherently imprecise and is subject to certain uncertainties and contingencies, all of which are difficult to predict and are beyond our control. In performing our analysis, we made numerous assumptions with respect to industry performance and general business and economic conditions, many of which are beyond the control of the Companies. In addition, this valuation will fluctuate with changes in prevailing market conditions, the conditions and prospects, financial and otherwise, of the Companies, and other factors which generally influence the Valuation of Companies and their assets.

The application of any particular method of valuation depends on the purpose for which the valuation is done. Although different values may exist for different purposes, it cannot be too strongly emphasized that a valuer can arrive at one value for one purpose. Our choice of methodology of valuation has been arrived at using usual and conventional methodologies adopted for transactions of a similar nature and our reasonable judgment, in an independent and bona fide manner based on our previous experience of assignments of a similar nature.

Comparable Companies Multiples method /Guideline Company Method

Under this method, value of equity shares of a company is arrived at by using multiples derived from valuations of comparable companies or comparable transactions, as manifest through Stock market valuations of listed companies and the transaction valuation. This valuation is based on the principle that market valuations, taking place between informed buyers and informed sellers, incorporate all factors relevant to valuation. Relevant multiples need to be chosen carefully and adjusted for the differences between the circumstances.

Market Price Method

The market price of an Equity share as quoted on stock exchange is normally considered as the value of the equity shares of that Company where such quotations are arising from the shares being freely traded in, subject to the element of speculative support that may be inbuilt in the value of the shares. Where shares in a company are bought and sold on the stock exchange and there are no abnormalities affecting the market price, the price at which the shares are changing hands in the ordinary course of business is usually their true value and are referred as Listed Price Method. These quotations generally reflect the value of the asset having regard to the several factors which are taken into consideration by persons who transact business on stock exchange and by buyers who want to invest their money in any particular share or shares.

Price of Recent Investment (PORI) – Under this approach, price of recent investment or transaction in the firm's equity shares at arm's length is considered. Recent investment provides a good indication of the fair market value of a company. PORI is an approach under the Market Price Method

Discounted Cash Flows (DCF) Method

Discounted Cash Flow Method ("DCF Method") is a form of the income approach that is commonly used to value businesses or equity interests. The DCF Method involves estimating the future cash flows of a business and discounting them to their present value. The discount rate selected is based on consideration of the risks inherent in the investment and market rates of return available from alternative investments of similar type and quality as of the Valuation Date. DCF Method is based on the concepts of "Time Value of Money" which states "cash today is more worth than the same amount of cash in the future."

For Avenues' valuation analysis, the forecasted free cash flows of Avenues are based on its management's business plan provided to us.

We must emphasize that realization of free cash flow forecast used in the analysis will be dependent on the continuing validity of assumptions on which they are based. Our analysis therefore, will not, and cannot be directed to providing any assurance about the achievability of the final projections. Since the financial forecast relate to future, actual results are likely to be different from the projected results because events and circumstances do not occur as expected, and the differences could be material.

Net Asset Value (NAV) Method

The Asset based valuation technique is based on the value of the underlying net assets of the business either on a book value basis or realizable value basis or replacement cost basis. This valuation approach is mainly used in case where the firm is to be liquidated i.e. it does not meet the "going concern" criteria or in case where the asset base dominate earnings capability.

For arriving at the fair value of the equity shares of Infibeam, we have used PORI Method and Listed Price Method within the Market Approach. Since the fair value derived based on the Market Approach are regarded as the good barometer of fair value of the equity shares at which an informed buyer and an informed seller are willing to transact in the equity shares of the company, we have assigned 100%weightage to the Market Approach.

For arriving at the fair value of the shares of Avenues, we have used the DCF Method within Income Approach and PORI Method under Market Approach. We have assigned equal weightage to each methodology, viz. PORI and DCF Methods.

CONCLUSION

Though different values have been arrived at under each of the above approaches, for the purposes of recommending share exchange ratio, it is necessary to arrive at a single value for the shares of both the Companies. It is, however, important to note that in doing so, we are not attempting to arrive at the absolute values of the shares of each of the Companies. Our exercise is to work out relative values of shares of the Companies. For the purpose, it is necessary to give appropriate weightage to the values arrived at under each approach discussed above.

The exchange ratio of shares of Infibeam and Avenues has been arrived on the basis of a relative valuation for Infibeam and Avenues based on the various methodologies explained herein earlier and various qualified factors relevant to each company, having regard to information base, key underlying assumptions and limitations.

In the ultimate analysis, valuation will have to be tempered by the exercise of judicious discretion and judgment taking into account all the relevant factors. There will always be several factors, e.g. quality and integrity of the management, present and prospective competition, yield on comparable securities and market sentiment, etc. which are not evident from the face of the balance sheets but which will strongly influence the worth of a share.

Again, it is understood that this analysis does not represent a fairness opinion.

Computation of exchange ratio

Valuation Approach	Infibeam		Avenues
	Value Per Share	Weight	Value Per Share	Weight
Asset Approach	-	-	-	-
Income Approach	-	-	3608	50%
Market Approach	1478	100%	4084	50%
Relative Value Per Share	1478		3846
Exchange ratio (Rounded Up)			2.60

In light of the above, and on a consideration of all relevant factors and circumstances as discussed and outlines hereinabove, we consider that the exchange ratio of shares for the merger of Avenues with Infibeam should be 260 equity shares of Infibeam of INR 10/- each fully paid up for every 100 shares of Avenues of INR 10/- each fully paid up.

Our Share Exchange Ratio is based on the capital structure of the Companies, the sources of information and the scope & limitations indicated above. Any variation in the capital structures of Infibeam and Avenues prior to the Scheme of Arrangement becomes effective may have an impact on the exchange ratio.

5. We did not review the financial statements and other financial information, in respect of nine subsidiaries, whose IndAS financial statements include total assets of Rs. 4,250.8 million and net assets of Rs. 1,791.0 million as at September 30, 2017, and total revenue of Rs. 1,164.2 million and Rs. 2,024.2 million for the quarter and half year ended on that date respectively. These financial information and other financial information have been reviewed by other auditors, which financial statements, other financial information and review reports have been furnished to us by the management of the Company. Notes:
1. Business segments:
Based on the "management approach" as defined in Ind AS 108 - Operating Segments and evaluation by the Chief Operating Decision Maker, primary reportable segments of the Group consists of: Ecommerce - sale of products and Ecommerce - Sale of software and ecommerce related ancillary services.
2. Segment assets and liabilities:
Segment information is prepared in conformity with the accounting policies adopted for preparing and presenting the consolidated financial statements of the Group as a whole. Segment assets include all operating assets used by a segment and principally consists of operating cash, trade receivables, inventories and fixed assets, net of allowances and provisions which are reported as direct offsets in the balance sheet. While most such assets can be directly attributed to individual segments, the carrying amount of certain assets used jointly by two segments is allocated to the segments on a reasonable basis. Segment liabilities include all operating liabilities and consist principally of trade payables and accrued liabilities. Segment assets and liabilities do not include those relating to income taxes.
3. Segment expense:
Segment expense comprises the expense resulting from the operating activities of a segment that is directly attributable to the segment or that can be allocated on a reasonable basis to the segment and expense relating to transactions with other segments. Certain expenses are not specifically allocable to individual segments as the underlying services are used interchangeably. The Group therefore believes that it is not practicable to provide segment disclosures relating to such expenses, and accordingly such expenses are separately disclosed as 'unallocated' and directly charged against total income.
4. Certain assets and liabilities which are common to both the segments (i.e. Ecommerce - Sale of product and Ecommerce sale of software and ecommerce related ancillary services) for which basis of allocation cannot be consistently identified are included under un-allocable assets and liabilities

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Background of the Industry

Over the years, various studies have documented how countries could benefit moving from cash to digital payments. According to a 2016 Moody's Analytics study, card usage added USD 296 billion to global consumption, equivalent to a cumulative increase of 0.1 percent in global GDP and to the creation of about 13 million jobs between 2011 and 2015. Even with activation rates in single digits for India's over 660 million debit cards, their use added about 1.6 million jobs, and USD 6.1 billion at 2011 prices (INR 40,000 crores) to the country's GDP during this period. Peer countries have fared relatively better than India (Exhibit 1).

The shift from cash to digital payments could increase GDP across developing economies by 6% before 2025, adding US$3.7 trillion and 95 million jobs, according to a McKinsey Global Institute report.

A Global Perspective

The global payments landscape is evolving at a fast pace. It has seen some spectacular changes and disruptions recently. With the development of digital technologies, payments are no longer the forte of banks. As per the BCG report on Digital Payments 2020, the total value of global retail payments transactions was estimated at USD 16 trillion in 2015. This is estimated to increase to USD 21 trillion by 2020. Digital Payments contributed to 8% of the overall global retail payments market in 2015 and is expected to increase to 18-24% by 2020. In-app payments and proximity transactions are expected to be the key catalysts driving the growth.

The USA is considered to be one of the largest market for Digital Payments and has the largest players in this industry with a deep-rooted technology infrastructure. Digital payments in Europe and UK are also growing. Outside of the developed countries China is seeing increasing acceptance of digital payments as e-commerce is picking up significantly. China's two leading Internet and mobile payment tools together enabled USD 2.9 trillion in Chinese digital payments in 2016, representing a 20-fold increase over the past four years, says a United Nations' study.

In South Africa, 78% of all Internet traffic takes place over mobile channels, one of the highest rates in the world. Indonesia and South America are other markets where significant growth of transition to digital payments will take place as well, says the UN report.

India on a similar growth path

Over the last few years, the payments landscape in India has mirrored developments occurring in the global payments industry. The digitization of payments is a recent phenomenon as we see a push straight from the government itself. The growth over the last few years has been encouraging.

As per BCG estimates (before demonetization), approximately 30 billion payment transaction happen in India over a month translating to 1 billion a day. As per BCG, the total payments on digital payments instruments can reach up to USD 500 billion by 2020, up from about USD 40-50 billion around mid-2016. This is far lower than current digital payments transaction value in China. Yet, they expect the proportion of non-cash transactions will overtake cash transaction in 2023 (Exhibit 2).

Challenges faced in the industry

There has been a renewed and focused direction to the Indian telecom sector in the last twelve months. The country has embarked on one of the world's most ambitious broadband project with the "Digital India" program, which seeks to transform India into a digitally empowered society and knowledge economy. The vision is to provide digital access to all by expanding rural internet coverage to 250000 villages and leveraging this ICT Infrastructure as a foundation to deliver e- governance services on demand. With these initiatives, the Government aims to harvest the power of internet and drive in socio- economic development of the country. With the launch of the Pradhan Mantri Jan-Dhan Yojana (PMJDY) (over 200 million bank accounts opened under this scheme), supported by the Aadhaar framework (over 950 million Indians enrolled), and with over one billion mobile phone connections, India has made remarkable strides toward achieving universal financial inclusion. However, a major concern, despite this tremendous progress is that the use of digital payments in the country remains elusive. Market data indicates three critical factors responsible for this phenomenon:

- Few consumers use digital payments: Only 11% of the consumers used debit cards for making payments in 2014
- Few merchants accept digital payments: Only about 6% of Indian merchants accept digital payments. This restricts consumers' from meaningfully utilizing their bank accounts and new digital payment tools.

Key Issues faced by Consumers

- Low interest in digital payments is often driven by lack of a digital store of value. In India, people do not have enough opportunities to convert cash into digital, because either they do not earn digitally (almost 80 percent of consumers surveyed) or have the opportunity to save their earnings digitally. This restricts them from making transactions digitally.
- Low penetration of merchant acceptance is a key barrier to adoption. Many people do not use digital payment because there are not enough merchants around them who accept this form of payment.

Key Issues faced by Merchants

- Merchants find it expensive to adopt digital payments, which affect their interest. Merchants have highlighted high cost of trial as a factor driving down interest in acceptance of digital payments.
- Merchants like consumers, are trapped in cash ecosystems, which inhibits their interest. The second biggest reason which restricts merchants from accepting digital payment is their own requirement of making cash payments to their suppliers. However, merchants who do not pay by cash, use cheque for payment as cheques provide advantages of physical transaction, trail and latency. Also, lack of consumer demand is highlighted as the third major reason for low acceptance.

RISK FACTORS

- We derive a significant portion of our revenues from the online eCommerce sector in India. Consequently, any adverse development in this sector could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.*

We derive a significant portion of our revenues from our ecommerce sector operations. We depend on online merchants as well as the leading banks and financial institutions across India. Our operations comprise Payment Gateway Solutions, which provides Indian ecommerce merchants and other online government entities and non-government entities with connectivity to the core banking systems of multiple banks, credit card and debit card acquiring banks etc. The success of our business thus depends on various factors, including the ability of the banks to grow and maintain their existing customer base in India, the demand for online payment services, our ability to successfully sell, deploy, operate, maintain and manage Payment Gateway Services, our relationship and commercial negotiations with banks and financial institutions, consumer spending habits, and macroeconomic conditions in India and globally. Further, under our current arrangements with banks, we derive our fees on a per transaction basis based on the basis of the number of successful financial transactions on the Payment Gateway. In such cases where we derive our revenues on a per transaction basis, our transaction fees are determined through negotiations between us and our merchants and could be reduced over time due to factors such as increased competition and lower demand for payment gateway services and availability of other technology solutions. Any adverse development in the internet ecosystem, reduction in transaction fees or a decline in the usage of online payment gateway that is managed, operated and maintained by us could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

2. Any regulatory changes which impact Merchant Fees collection, Bank Fees payments, Interchange fee regime may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

Merchant Fees are fees collected by the company from the merchant as a payment to use the payment gateway services offered by the company. Bank fees are the fees charged to the Company by the Bank to which the company connects to authorize the payment. Part of the Bank fees includes the Interchange fee which is the fees charged by the card (credit or debit) issuing bank for authorizing a transaction received from an acquiring bank on its payments systems. These interchange fees/ bank fees are set by the Card Companies, Banks and National Payments Corporation of India for each of their respective payment instruments. Any changes in the fees structure or an adverse change in the process of such collections could have an adverse impact on our business.

The Company's revenue mainly comes from the fees a merchant pays the Company for a processing a transaction. This fees is popularly called TDR (Transaction Discount Rate, which is essentially either a percentage of the transaction amount or a pre-negotiated flat fee per transaction). The Company retains a small percentage of the TDR and pays the acquiring bank its pre-negotiated Bank Fee. For all card payments that are associated with the card association (Visa/MasterCard), the bank's transaction fee includes the interchange fee to be shared with the card association and the acquiring bank. For Net Banking transactions, since the card associations are not involved, the bank would retain the entire bank fee. Any change in the dynamics of this equation due to a change in the circumstances of any of the stakeholders could have an adverse impact our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. Further, the RBI may also vary the interchange fee with respect to various payment services offered by us. If there were any increases in the interchange fee required to be paid by the banks, the bank fee that banks charge us may increase as banks may seek to offset the extra interchange charges. Similarly, if some of the merchants which use our payment gateway were to reduce the TDR rates paid to us, our future transaction costs could increase and our revenues could decline. In addition, any potential future network or legislative actions that affect the amount of interchange fees that can be levied on a transaction may adversely affect our revenues. Any of the above may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

3. We depend on third parties for certain services. Any disruption, deficiency in service or increase in cost of such services could adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

We depend on third parties for a number of services, including technology licensors, payment network providers, server farm services, transaction processors and security and housekeeping personnel providers. These third parties enable us to provide card authorization, data capture, payment settlement, payment management, and maintenance services to our hardware and software, and our products and services. Should we experience a disruption in the supply, or quality, of these services or products, or if such contracts for services expire, we may not be able to find a replacement or renew our contracts, as the case may be, in a timely fashion, on favorable terms or at all, we could suffer a significant disruption in our business, which could have an adverse effect on our business, reputation, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

4. *An increase in the use of cash as a mode of payment could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our business and results of operations are significantly dependent on the usage of the various online payments options in the country. We derive our revenues from our merchants on the basis of the number of transactions through the payment gateway we manage and operate. Consequently, the proliferation of use of cash by the merchants' customers instead of using credit cards, debit cards, stored-value cards, mobile payments and on-line purchase activity, could result in a reduced usage of online payment gateway in the marketplace and a decline in the revenues generated by the company and could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

5. *Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including adverse application of corporate and tax laws, may adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

The regulatory and policy environment in which we operate is evolving and subject to change. Such changes, including the instances mentioned below, may adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects, to the extent that we are unable to suitably respond to and comply with any such changes in applicable law and policy.

Further, the General Anti Avoidance Rules ("GAAR") are proposed to be made effective from April 01, 2017. The tax consequences of the GAAR provisions being applied to an arrangement could result in denial of tax benefit amongst other consequences. In the absence of any precedents on the subject, the application of these provisions is uncertain. If the GAAR provisions are made applicable to our Company, it may have an adverse tax impact on us.

We have not determined the impact of these proposed legislations on our business. Uncertainty in the applicability, Interpretation or implementation of any amendment to, or change in, governing law, regulation or policy in the jurisdictions in which we operate, including by reason of an absence, or a limited body, of administrative or judicial precedent may be time consuming as well as costly for us to resolve and may impact the viability of our current business or restrict our ability to grow our business in the future.
